2. Why Should I Enter?

- Enhance your reputation within the global FX industry.
- Gain meaningful feedback into your business from our panel of industry leading FX experts.
- Demonstrate to clients the value and commitment your business brings to FX.
- Access to winner's logos and a unique commentary specific to your winning category.
- Celebrate your team's achievements and network with industry peers at the Euromoney Foreign Exchange Awards Gala Dinner

3. Who Should Enter?

Any provider of institutional FX trading services and support including, but not necessarily limited, to:

- Global and regional FX banks
- ECNs
- Trading venues
- Platforms

- LPs
- Institutional technology and software providers
- FX exchanges
- Clearing and settlement providers

4. New for 2023

For over 44 years, The Euromoney Foreign Exchange Survey has stood as the most comprehensive representation of the wholesale FX market.

For 2023, we are excited to evolve and relaunch the Foreign Exchange Survey as a submission-based awards programme. Institutions that service the Foreign Exchange market are invited to pitch against a range of global and regional categories.

Your pitches will be judged by a panel of global experts representing banks, providers and buy side corporations who will be looking for excellence and innovation in the market.

5. Eligibility

- Entries will be accepted from any FX provider, both banks and non-banks, based anywhere in the world.
- Projects, transactions and initiatives must relate to achievements during 2021/2022 to present
- All evidence supplied must take this into consideration.

If you have any questions about submissions or are interesting in joining our judging panel, please contact Nicola Tavendale. For any commercial enquiries, please contact Peter York.

If you have any questions about submissions or are interesting in joining our judging panel, please contact Nicola Tavendale.

For any commercial enquiries, please contact Peter York.

7. Entry Process

7.1. Your Entry

- The submission is your opportunity to explain and evidence your institution's achievements in the category in question. All entries should answer the questions outlined below, but you should tailor your response to the sub-category and award geography.
- Each entrant must submit a written submission via the dedicated awards portal. Your entries should include specifics and provide examples, where relevant, and explain how they relate to the category being applied for. Please note: all work submitted must have occurred during 2021/2022 to present.

- Companies may share relevant commercial data to illustrate their growth and financial performance, with the opportunity to append the most recent publicly available data. All data sources must be clearly referenced and dated.
- Entries should only include information that we can use to justify nomination for an award. Nothing can be considered confidential if it is used in an award entry.

7.2. Judging

- You will be able to amend your entry once it has been submitted up until the June 16 deadline, but entries cannot be modified after this date.
- Euromoney will review all entries and convene our panel of industry experts to decide on winners in July.
- Judges will be allocated categories based on experience and knowledge of these areas with more than one individual judging each category. Judges will not be allocated to categories where there might be an obvious or perceived conflict of interest.
- Judges are asked to score entries based on a standardised system which they would be able to explain or justify if required.
- Judges may, at their discretion, nominate entries for additional award categories if it qualifies for recognition in more than one area.

- The scores are collated and finalised by the editorial team and awards editor.

7.3. Entry Questions

Every category will ask for details of the entrant's market-leading capabilities across the same four areas:

1. Products and propositions (up to 250 words)
2. Innovations and technology (up to 250 words)
3. Client service and delivery (up to 250 words)
4. Supporting information – tell us why you should win (up to 500 words)

Every entrant may, optionally, append attachments (PDF, Word or PowerPoint). The attachments are there primarily for financial, commercial, or market share data, or client testimonials. Attachments will not be directly scored by the judges.
